

New: Classic Lager styles from Czech Republic

Hostomice Pivovar

Pivovarská, 267 24 Hostomice

The original brewery ran from 1407- 1947, then was revived in 2011. It was once burned down by the Swedish army in 1639. They only make classic Czech styles and is fast becoming a sought out destination for beer drinkers. Stephen Beaumont has it featured in his book "Will Travel for Beer"

Fabián 14° Dark Bohemian Lager

6% alc./vol.

Dark lager- Rich, good amount of malts with a hint of sweetness ==> It is simply a completely different world + interpretation of classic /historic styles : So different from "German Dunkles" You need to taste & experience it : The dryness/bitterness in the finish, the malt sweetness on the palate, the different aroma. but not aggressively so.

Fabián 13° "Fresh Hop Special"

Bottom fermented light colored beer

13% of plato

5,51 % alc/vol

54,1 EBU bitterness

Malts: Czech malt, Vienna malt, Caramalt

Fresh Czech SAAZ hops directly from the field.

A gold colored stronger lager brewed at the end of August with fresh green hop from the new season.

Again, nothing like this in our portfolio .

The malt/grain character is so different from "German style brewing": "grainy", not sweet, with a long dry-bitter finish

Formats: 7.9 US Gallons / 30 Liter kegs
